Chol ha-Moed
Exodus 33:12-34:26

Sukkot has several names, one of which is zeman simchateinu, the time of our happiness.

It is significant that the Jewish People are to remember to express their joy and gratitude and that there is always something to be grateful for. This week, I heard a former hostage speak. He focuses on the fact that he is alive. There is nothing more basic than that. If he can pare it down that far, we should aim to do so as well.

Prayer for Israel

May the one who blessed our ancestors, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, Sarah, Rebecca, Rachel, and Leah, bless the State of Israel, representing the beginning of the flowering of our redemption. Defend her with Your grace and spread over her Your shelter of peace. May the Holy One bless the soldiers of the Israeli Defense Forces and protect and guard all the captives. May the Master of the universe have compassion upon them and remove them from darkness and the shadow of death, break their bonds, deliver them from their distress and return them quickly to the embrace of their families. May God make it that our enemies who rise against us be struck down before our soldiers. And may You bring peace to the land, and everlasting joy to all its inhabitants. And we say amen.

Prayer for America by Rabbi Victor H. Reinstein

Compassionate One, fill our hearts with love and compassion for each other, that in truth we might be one nation indivisible. Bless our country, its government, its leaders, and its people. Bless the vision that is America and help us all to make it real. Help us to be for each other a mirror in which to see the best we are, and when we stray give to each one the courage to remind, speaking truth to power when need be.

Of qualities that built this land, help us to distinguish between their light and shadow sides, and to know the upright way, that good not be twisted into evil. Take the violence from us, so much part of what has been; and lead us on a new path to the Prophet's vision fulfilled, of swords turned into plowshares that we shall at last learn war no more. Let not our confidence become arrogance, nor might the measure of right; mature enough in our independence, may we celebrate with all nations the interdependence from which a greater good will come.
